

WOMEN EMPOWERMENT

By Eliz Gomez

*“Women leaders are effective right now because women are sensitive and nurturing.”

The Share with Sorok weekly program of Sorok Uni Foundation aims to offer the best of both worlds through empowering, inspiring and motivating viewers through sharing healthy discussion about pressing topics that could bring impact to the lives of our viewers, as well as aiming to provide livelihood program for our beneficiaries in NCR, MCS Zamboanga, Sorok Uni Village in San Antonio Quezon, Ladies of Church of God and San Agustin Women’s Association in Occidental Mindoro.

Last March which is also considered as women’s month, Share with Sorok dedicated an episode with the theme; “Your Voice Matters: Talks about Women’s Strength, Values, and Contributions to Society” to celebrate the impact created by women of different walks of life.

That episode highlighted the story of humble beginnings, thoughts, experiences, and successes of our two notable guests. Being one of the best episodes of Share with Sorok, it truly made an impact to the viewers who are convinced to even share their own thoughts and realizations about the sharing and discussions.

Since it is women’s month, the discussion focused merely on women’s participation and eventually lead to the realization that women’s rights, involvement, and empowerment is indeed a fundamental human right.

This episode is a reminder that women are an essential part of the society and to quote it from one of the guests, Ms. Margaret Canlas, “We should listen to opinion of men and women equally” and “We should have equal opportunity for women to lead” according to Ms. Kimberly Anne Siapno.

Above all, despite different point of views of our guests when it comes to leadership, professional ethics, principles, etc. the conversation trajected towards faith and unity of all in achieving empowerment.

*“Continue serving the society”
– Margaret Don-Canlas*
